Chief Engineer's Report.

In compliance with the law, I submit my report as Chief Engineer for the past year, giving account of fires and alarms, with the condition of fire apparatus under my care.

We have responded to alarms for the year 1900, as follows:

April 4; Box 25; 4.50 P. M. A voluntary call was made to the firemen for a fire in large wood pile, owned by W. A. Sanborn, at East Kingston. About 35 men responded, going in a special car.

April 8; Box 36; 3.30 P. M. Alarm for a fire on the edge of Exeter, in woods owned by Mr. Neal and wood owned by Mr. H. W. Anderson. Small loss.

April 10; Box 45; 3.50 P. M. Alarm for fire in woods of Gilman Bros., Kensington road. Small loss.

April 22, Box 45; 3 A. M. About 30 firemen responded to a call for help from Hampton Beach. It was occasioned by the burning of the large hotel, the Beckman House. No apparatus was taken, and when the firemen arrived, it was a total loss.

April 30; Box 27; 1.10 P. M. Alarm for a fire in woods owned by Mr. Ambrose Swasey, burning about 60 cords of wood. Insured.

May 2; Box 23; 10.30 A. M. Alarm for fire in woods of Mr. J. H. Kimball, on Brentwood road. Small loss.

May 8; Box 45, 8 P. M. A needless alarm for fire in ash barrel in shed owned Mr. Miles Avery, Hall Place. No damage.

July 5; Box 25; 1.30 A. M. Alarm for a fire in house owned by Mr. Lorenzo Nealey, Lincoln street, and occupied by Mr. Maurice, barber, and his wife as dressmaker. It was caused by dropping of kerosene lamp. It was damaged considerably by fire and water. Insured.

July 7; Box 45; 9 P. M. Alarm for fire in building owned by Mr. Z. London, Water street, and occupied by Mr. E. J. LaPort, as tailor. It was caused by the upsetting of a naphtha bottle and explosion of same. The fire was extinguished by fire extinguishers from the steamer house. Small loss on buildings and contents. Insured.

July 24; Box 25; 1 P. M. Alarm for fire in woodlot of Mr. H. W. Anderson, in the Oaklands. Estimated loss about 75 cords.

August 16; Box 31; 7 A. M. Alarm for fire in barn owned by Mr. George F. Haynes, on Kensington road. It was caused by lightning and the loss was total.

August 22; Box 45; 6.30 A. M. A needless alarm for a fire in tenement over the Rockingham Fruit Store, Water street.

September 7 to 12. Alarms for fire in woodland owned by Mr. W. N. Dow, the Norris heirs, the Harris heirs, James Pike, Daniel Smith and several others. This was the largest woods fire that Exeter ever had. It burned over 600 acres, and the estimated loss was from $4,000 to $5,000. It cost the town in the neighborhood of $800.

December 4; Box 36; 11 P. M. Alarm for Opera House. It was caused by crossing of electric wires. Slight loss.

December 6; Box 25; 6.40 A. M. Alarm for house on Brentwood road, owned by Mrs. Owen Roberts, and occupied by Mr. Nelson M. Tucker. This fire was about two miles from the village, and the roads were in bad condition. The steamer only responded. The house was a total loss, but the barn was saved. This fire was caused in all probability by overheated stove. Insured.

December 10; Box 45; 7.50 A. M. Alarm for fire in building owned by Mr. Luke Leighton, on Water street, and occupied by Mr. Adams as candy manufactory. Caused by careless handling of gasolene. Small loss. Insured.

There were several other small fires which the firemen took active part to extinguish, but for which no alarm was sounded.

"When fire is cried and danger is nigh,
God and the firemen are the people's cry,
But when the fire is quenched, and all things are righted,
God is forgotten, and the firemen are slighted."

It has been the custom for the last 15 or 20 years, for the Chief Engineer in his annual report to state that the members and apparatus of the fire department are in good working order. I am sorry to say that I cannot conscientiously make this statement, for, in fact, it is not so. As regards the firemen, I am only happy to say that they are a manly set of fellows, willing, prompt and greatly interested in their work. An Exeter gentleman, doing business in Boston, who has witnessed many fires there during the last year, told the writer that he honestly thought that, if the Exeter department had the same facilities as the Boston, it could hold its own with it in regard to putting out fire. Ex-Chief Charlesworth, of the Haverhill department, after the Squamscott and Box Shop fires said: "It is wonderful how you firemen down there put out fires and do such good work with the appliances that you have."

As an example for promptness, let me relate one instance that happened the last year. When box 36 rang the alarm for the Opera House at 11 o'clock at night, it was bitter cold, raining in torrents, and blowing almost a hurricane. Hardly was the alarm sounded, when the firemen were there in readiness with a stream of water, and in less than five minutes every piece of apparatus was there ready for business. People of Exeter, you ought to feel proud of your department, for there is none any better for its size and what it has to do with.

When the present Board of Engineers took charge of the department, which was in November, they hoped to make some small improvements, but on inquiry found that they had only about $400 left of the appropriation to run the department with until the 1st of April, with a number of bills to be paid. This shortage was occasioned by woods fires, principally the one on Epping road, which cost a great deal of money. We were fighting this fire for six days, and but for timely rain, I don't know where it would have stopped, as the firemen were completely fagged out, some of them fighting the fire for 24 hours on a stretch. At several times during this fire the farm buildings of the Norris heirs and James Pike seemed doomed, but by hard work and perseverance they were saved.

On investigation we found waste material of no use, accumulated around the engine houses, which we sold, and therewith was purchased a 10-foot flexible suction hose, and a pair of steel snap collars and hangers for the steamer, which equips that company in almost perfect condition.

In regard to the apparatus, I will say that the steamer is in first-class condition, and will remain so for a long time with proper care.

As regards the hose reels, I must say that their usefulness is about gone. They have been in constant service, over all kinds of roads, for about 15 years, and have been repaired and patched, until they are about all patched up. They are antiquated in looks and antiquated in usefulness, being unhandy, not strong enough, and not carrying hose enough, on an average only about 500 feet, which is not enough, as the hydrants in places are quite far apart. The town needs three hose wagons, arranged to be drawn either by hand or horse, and carrying from 800 to 1000 feet of hose. These wagons cost from $250 to $325 each. Such wagons can be purchased out of the annual $5,000 appropriation, if we don't have any more $800 woods fires. But for the Epping road woods fire and the purchase of new steamer horses, the present Board of Engineers would have bought two of these wagons this year, and I would suggest to following Boards of Engineers that they be as economical as possible for the next two years, and I can't see any reason why they cannot equip the hose companies with new and up-to-date wagons, and also give the hose houses a coat of outside paint out of the annual $5,000 appropriation.

The hook and ladder truck has been a serious problem for the Board of Engineers for several years. Ex-Chief Gooch in his report last year stated that "it was not heavy and strong enough for the work it has to do," and also said "that he would advise the town to place the truck that we now have in the shoe shop district, and buy a heavier one to place in the hook and ladder house on Court street." He also gave orders to members of the company that anyone of them who rode on the truck to a fire rode at his own risk, and notified Mr. Trefethen that he must not go so fast to a fire, as he was afraid the truck would break down. Since I have been Chief Engineer, I have greatly feared an accident to it, and perhaps the killing or hurting some firemen badly. Then the Board of Engineers would be blamed for negligence, and in view of these facts, I have talked with practical men in regard to the truck, some of whom have looked it over. They all said: Get rid of it as soon as possible, as it is a dangerous piece of apparatus, and also that the town would realize more out of it now than later on. I then called the Selectmen's attention to the matter, and with the Board of Engineers they made an examination. They came to the same conclusion as the others did, that is, that the truck is utterly unfit for the work it has to do, and liable to break down at any time. It is a small wooden truck, top heavy and light running gear. When it came to Exeter, it was hauled by hand, but after adding a few ladders to it a one horse attachment was put on, and when the Bangor extension ladder, which is very heavy, was added, a two-horse attachment was substituted. The truck carries, besides the extension, only about 130 feet of ladders, divided up very poorly. There is not a ladder outside the extension that will reach a three-story building.

What the town needs for a truck is a small size city truck, carrying about 300 feet of ladders, as Exeter compares favorably with places twice her size as regards buildings. I would not recommend that the old truck be placed in the upper part of the town, as this would mean a yearly bill of expense for running and maintaining it, but I would recommend that the town buy a larger and more suitable truck, as the trouble has not been in getting to a fire, but the lack of ladders, etc., when there. The great trouble of the fire department always has been that we wait until the last moment to remedy a fault.

When the present Board of Engineers took control, the fire alarm was in bad shape, but is now in fairly good working order, and Superintendent French hopes to have it in perfect running order in the near future. As this part of the fire department has never been explained to the citizens, I will tell, as near as I can, just what it consists of.

There are about 16 miles of wire, taking in all parts of the town, which feeds 14 Gamewell fire boxes, 1 steam gong, 6 relays, 4 tappers, and about 35 vibrating bells. The main circuit battery, which is a gravity battery, is situated in the steamer house basement, and consists of 64 cups. The open circuit battery consists of 20 cups of open circuit batteries at the same place; at house No. 3 there are 32 cups of open circuit batteries, and at hose house No. 1, 9 cups of open circuit batteries. The main circuit batteries have to be renewed about every six weeks. The open circuit batteries have to be renewed once a year, barring accidents. Any citizen interested and wishing to see this part of the department, can do so by calling at the steamer house any evening, when any of the members will be happy to show them the whole working order of the fire alarm.

Owing to the death of one of the town horses, the Selectmen purchased a heavy pair of bays. They are young, strong and vigorous, and are breaking in fine shape. The boys are training them, and twice a week they are hitched on the steamer by the ringing of the steamer house gong. The hay, grain, bedding, medicine, and repairing of the barn come out of the fire appropriation, (for what reason I don't know), without giving it any credit. I think that the Fire Department should have part credit for the amount of work that the town team does.

I would suggest that the Board of Engineers keep a system of books, keeping separate the cost of the different companies, fire alarm, and town team, so that we can see just what each costs.

A good fire department not only gives confidence and a sense of security from danger by fire, but also proves a great benefit in very materially lessening the rates of insurance. In these days, when nearly all the property in cities and towns is insured, a reduction in the rate of from one-fourth to one-half on the amount which would be charged by insurance companies, in the absence of an efficient fire department, amounts to quite an item in the course of a year. This fact seems, in many instances, to have been lost sight of in Exeter for the last 15 or 20 years. It is the duty of every tax-payer and voter to exercise an intelligent and judicious care over such an important matter, and to secure wise legislation and liberal provision for the benefit and advancement of the Fire Department, in enabling them to place themselves upon the best possible footing, procuring the latest improvements and appliances, in reason, to add to their efficiency. Refusal or neglect to take proper care of so important a factor in the public affairs as the Fire Department is not only unwise, but may bring unwholesome fruits when too late to remedy. There is nothing any better for the welfare of a town than a good and up-to-date fire department.

I wish to return my thanks to ex-Chief Gooch for his kind proposal to call on him at any time when in need of help, to Assistant Chiefs Carter and Murphy for their harmony and good judgment, to the Board of Selectmen for their coöperation in all matters appertaining to the Fire Department, to Superintendent French of the fire alarm, and to all members of the department for their promptness, willingness and earnestness.

Yours respectfully,

WILLIAM FLANIGAN, Chief Engineer.

The Robinson Seminary.

PRINCIPAL'S REPORT.

Honorable Board of Trustees of Robinson Seminary:

In preparing my communication to your Board I remember that it is your usual custom to order that report printed in the annual town report, and for that reason I feel at liberty to speak of many things with which you are already familiar and of measures that have been adopted at your suggestion or direction.

In April Miss Irvine, who for eight years had been the faithful assistant in every department, the personal friend of every teacher and pupil, and my invaluable secretary, to our great loss and another's equal gain resigned her position. Miss Lillian M. Burpee, a recent graduate of the Seminary, succeeded to Miss Irvine's varied and difficult duties with a success that I scarcely expected anyone to attain.

Several events of public and special interest marked the closing weeks of the school year of 1899–1900. In April the cooking class, under direction of Miss Anna Barrows, as a test of the practical attainments in that department, prepared and served an inexpensive lunch in honor of the trustees and teachers.

On May 4 the annual competition for the Burlingame Bread Prizes occurred, in which fifty-one pupils competed for the prizes. The address was given by Mrs. Alice Peloubet Norton, now of Chicago, on "Some Phases of Domestic Science Advancement."

On the evening of May 31st occurred the annual competition for the Harriett M. Merrill Rhetorical Prizes. The steady improvement manifested in these contests from year to year demonstrates the wisdom of Mr. Merrill's gift, and the value of the stimulus to hard work in that department.

June 8, a class of four young ladies was graduated from the Normal Department with most interesting exercises.

On the afternoon of Wednesday, June 13, occurred the annual commencement of the school, when a class of fourteen young ladies was graduated. The immense audience that every year so interestedly and patiently follows the long programme presented by our graduates is a strong argument in favor of retaining our now time honored method of conducting our graduation exercises. Every year I have greater occasion to regret that we cannot have a more spacious, cleanly and suitable apartment in which to celebrate our commencements.

The opening of the present school year was marked by important changes in the corps of teachers. At the close of the school in June, Miss Dike, teacher of mathematics and science, resigned, and Miss Downes, teacher of Greek and Latin, was granted a year's leave of absence because of impaired health. In September Miss Humphrey, teacher of French and German, finding that her health would not admit of taking up her school work, asked for a year's leave of absence, which was granted.

Miss Emily W. Tapley, for many years a most successful teacher at Sanborn Seminary, was elected teacher of mathematics. Miss S. E. Goddard, a graduate of Wellesley and a teacher of several years' experience, was hired to teach Science, Greek, and one class in Latin. Miss Nina A. Cummings, who had just returned from four years' training in the Universities of France and Germany, was engaged to do Miss Humphrey's work in French and German during the latter's absence.

The selections of new teachers have all proved most fortunate. Miss Barstow kindly consented to take charge of Miss Downes's large room during her year of rest, and Miss Tapley has succeeded to the responsibility of Miss Barstow's room. All have adapted themselves to their new or changed duties with rare tact and readiness and the school has moved on from the first with unusual smoothness, quiet content and thoroughness of work.

In accordance with your expressed wish, regular and systematic exercises in physical training are conducted with all the classes. This work has been assigned to Miss Johnson, and she is proving an enthusiastic and successful teacher of physical culture. In order to give to Miss Johnson the necessary time for her new duties, it was necessary to relieve her of a large part of her former teaching, and of the care of a school room. The charge of Miss Johnson's room was given to Miss Baker, and her classes in English were taken by Miss Moulton and Miss Baker. The changes made necessary by the introduction of physical exercises were many, and the added burdens to Miss Moulton, Miss Baker and Miss Kimball considerable, but all have adapted themselves to the new conditions readily and successfully.

The conviction of the Board, expressed last June, that it would not be justified in longer incurring the expense of the Normal Department for the benefit of a very few has seemed to have a very stimulating effect upon enrollment in that department. A class of ten earnest and enthusiastic young ladies took up the work in September, and unless someone fails to complete the work there will be eleven to graduate in June. The increased numbers, and the earnest, progressive spirit of all the members, have been a great encouragement to the faithful teacher in that department and a splendid year's work is being accomplished in the Normal Department.

In conclusion I would say that the condition and outlook of our school are healthful and hopeful. I realize and deeply appreciate your desire to have the school afford the best opportunities for a good training in each department and your willingness to furnish us every helpful equipment that the funds will admit. I can assure you that your interest is met by the faithful and unsparing effort of the teachers, and by the equally faithful work of the great majority of the pupils. I wish I could secure the coöperation of every parent and guardian to the end of insisting on the attendance of all pupils at every session, unless detained at home by sickness, or equally imperative needs.

The catalogue of this year will show, I think, an enrollment larger than at any period of the school's history, except the year 1870 and 1871.

The Seminary is now in a position to reap some benefit from its thirty-two years of seed sowing. Of the one hundred and fifty women who graduated before I was called to the principalship, the school has reason to be proud. It has been my privilege to make the acquaintance of almost every one, and I know their good will and desire for the prosperity of Alma Mater. The career of every-one of the two hundred and ninety-nine, whose diplomas I have signed, I follow with more than the interest and pride of an old friend or even former teacher. When I meet them their first eager inquiry is for the welfare of the Seminary.

The result of such good will and prayerful interest will always be an inestimable aid and inspiration to trustees, teachers and pupils, to make the Seminary the best educative force possible.

GEORGE N. CROSS.

An institution, which is approximating half a century of active life, and which every year is making itself useful to an increasing number of old and young readers, is no longer an experiment. A public library is now recognized as a necessity in almost every town in the state. It is especially cherished in Exeter, where it was organized before most communities had awakened to the conviction that educational influences should not be restricted to schools. From the first it has been liberally supported and thoroughly appreciated, and never more so than now.

Last year's report mentioned the growing use of the library, both among students and readers for literary enjoyment, adding, "The seekers for real knowledge in all its departments are yearly increasing among us." The same statement may be affirmed with emphasis of the year that has just closed.

The reading of every healthful book, whether it embody fiction or fact, is far preferable to mental sloth or to an activity manifested in perambulating the streets. It is a vast help to a boy or girl to form a taste for reading, and one book suggests another. As age and judgment increase so does taste mature. Novels pall, and travels, history, biography and popular science attract the reader. This is specially true in Exeter. While more fiction than fact is consumed, many persons who enjoy novels are also interested students of history and science. Of the books issued during the year, 57 per cent. are classed under the different varieties of fiction. In Salem, Mass., 85 per cent. of the books taken from the city library last year were novels. The contrast is much to Exeter's credit.

It is gratifying to know that the library is gaining reputation out of town as well as at home. Authors are beginning to send complimentary copies of their latest productions, not in great numbers or always of great importance, for many of the gifts are pamphlets, but it is obvious that the current has set in the right direction. The government has been a generous donor of its publications, and to Senator Gallinger the library is indebted for 112 volumes, published by the nation, some of them works of exceptional cost and interest, and too expensive to be widely circulated. Captain A. A. Folsom, a native of Exeter, has shown a zeal for the library's welfare rarely equalled by any local resident. He has procured for it many volumes published by the states of New York and Massachusetts, which are important records of the colonial and revolutionary periods. These are not designed for popular reading, but are of great value to historical students. Mr. W. E. Merrill, still a citizen of Exeter, though a resident of Boston, has given proof of the interest of himself and family in the library, by the presentation of a beautiful work of art to adorn the vestibule.

The whole number of cards issued was 3,311, of which 442 are new. The total exceeds that of the previous year by 146. The complete circulation of volumes was 29,441. The number of books added was 650, exclusive of bound magazines. Of this number 51 were books replaced for copies that had been literally worn out by the hands of many readers. As has been said, fiction has constituted 57 per cent. of the circulation, or 17,167 volumes, but biography had been called for by 522 persons, history and travel by 1472, general literature by 919, the fine and useful arts by 551, science and sociology by 544, religious and philosophical works by 294, and general works — not including fiction—by 205. The reading room for periodicals and the reference room, where atlases, dictionaries and cyclopedias are kept, are also generally filled with readers.

Of the 650 volumes added, 330 were bought, exclusive of magazines deemed worthy of binding. The books presented number 311, and the pamphlets 194. Of these the donors were as follows:

The National Government, 143 pamphlets and 27 volumes.

Senator Gallinger, 112 volumes.

Captain A. A. Folsom, 1 pamphlet and 37 volumes.

New York State Library, 12 volumes.

Hon. W. M. Olin, Secretary of State, Massachusetts, 8 volumes.

Miss Dora Merrill, 28 volumes Life and Light, and 6 volumes in French.

Mrs. Moody Currier, 1 volume.

Mr. Ambrose Swasey, 1 volume.

Mrs. Mary E. Winter, 2 volumes.

Miss Lucy E. Woodwell, 1 volume.

Mrs. C. H. Dall, 1 volume.

F. P. Stearns, 3 volumes.

Mrs. Kate Leighton, Brookline, Mass., 28 volumes.

John T. Perry, 16 pamphlets and 13 volumes.

John A. Brown, 5 pamphlets.

John Templeton, 1 volume, 2 pamphlets and News-Letter for binding.

C. H. Knight, County Commissioners' Report.

Rev. G. E. Street, 2 pamphlets.

Joseph E. Knight, Library Digest, for 18 months.

A. O. Fuller, 150 numbers of magazines.

W. S. Harris, 2 pamphlets, 2 newspapers.

C. E. Atwood, 2 pamphlets.

Prof. Faulhaber, German newspapers.

Joseph S. Ford, 7 volumes in French.

W. H. Belknap, 10 volumes New Hampshire Register.

J. H. Batchelder, 5 volumes New Hampshire Register.

Dr. N. E. Soule, 2 pamphlets.

State Publications, 2 volumes.

Secretary Star in the East Lodge, 1 pamphlet.

Miss Mary Hartwell has supplied the reading room with the Outlook, and the publishers of the Beacon, Christian Register, of Mind and the Arena and of the Christian Science Journal and Sentinel, and the Wall Street Journal have also furnished their respective papers gratuitously.

The above list shows the interest of individuals, in many instances non-residents, in the Public Library. May we not ask a like consideration for its welfare on the part of all our citizens? Not everyone may have books to contribute, but all should feel that it is a benefit to themselves, their children and neighbors. It has already on its shelves almost 12,000—about 11,850 volumes—and every year must add to its usefulness as the shelves grow fuller and fuller.

Our teachers and their older pupils are discovering that many branches may be studied in the library without the need of going to Boston for further information. There is abundant evidence also that school life is made less burdensome and more profitable to the thoughtful mind through searching in the library for information additional to that given in the text books. Parents, too, are finding that an interesting book keeps children in the house and makes home happier for both young and old.

In view of these facts, so apparent that they hardly need to be repeated, the Library Committee asks for the same appropriation as during the past few years. Until the par value of the $5,000 of the Charles A. Merrill fund is restored, the income of the library from invested funds must remain seriously diminished.

A year ago the heating apparatus of the library having proved insufficient, the town appropriated $175 in the hope that some modification of the furnaces might prove sufficient. On examination it was concluded that the substitution of steam for hot air was required. The result has proved very satisfactory.

All of which is respectfully submitted.
